AFTER THE COTTON MILL VOTE

CAN IT BE TURNED TO MCKINLEY?

Organized Efforts Being Made to Influence the Cotton Mill Operatives to Vote for the Republican Presidential Candidate—The Scheme Said to Be Engineered by Four Men Who Have a Personal Interest in the Result of the National Election.

There have been vague rumors from time to time to the effect that efforts were being made to secure what is known in North Carolina as the cotton mill vote for McKinley this year. For instance, it has been repeatedly charged that certain Republican politicians were at work trying to influence the cotton mill operatives in this Congressional district to vote for Mr. J. R. Joyce for Congress. There is, apparently, no doubt that such influences are at work in every cotton mill community in the district. The bulk of this vote has heretofore been cast for the Democratic nominee.

As it is in this district, so it is in the State. There is an organized movement on foot to turn as many as possible of the cotton mill voters to McKinley. It is not known who first conceived the idea, but it is said that the movement is being engineered by four men. One of these is a postmaster, another holds one of the best Federal offices in North Carolina, the third is a newspaper man and lawyer, and the fourth, in addition to being engaged in the newspaper business, also holds a government position.

It is believed that neither of these four men was specially interested in the campaign of the past summer, but each of them is personally interested in the result of the National election. They are dependent upon the election of a Republican president for their positions and patronage, and hence have undertaken a scheme to throw the electoral vote of North Carolina to McKinley.

Another influence which has been thrown to McKinley is the Mill News, a supposedly non-partisan paper, published in Charlotte and circulated principally among the mill operatives of the State. Some time ago it came out strongly against Bryan and has since been urging the cotton mill people to vote for McKinley, saying his defeat would be detrimental to their interests.

It is the general impression that this paper is maintained largely by the cotton mill owners, who have it distributed among their employees.

ARRESTED FOR DEFAULTING.

W. V. Ruth, Who Claimed to Have Been Robbed of $168, Gets in Trouble.

Some time ago one W. V. Ruth, who had disposed of a quantity of hickory timber to Mr. B. H. Merrimon, claimed to have been robbed of the proceeds, about $168, while strolling along the street at night. His actions were considered a little suspicious by the police officers, who had their doubts as to whether the man had really been robbed.

Saturday Ruth came to Greensboro, and while here was arrested on a warrant sworn out by parties in Orange county. It is charged that only a portion of the money collected from Mr. Merrimon was his, the other belonging to people who had been associated with him in getting out timber.

When arrested Ruth expressed no surprise. He was carried to Lineberry, Randolph county.

At the Court House Tonight.

Ex-Governor Thomas J. Jarvis and Major W. A. Guthrie will speak in the court house this evening at 7:30 o'clock. It is only a few weeks until the election and everyone should go out and hear the issues discussed. Major Guthrie is the Bryan elector for this district, while Mr. Jarvis has just withdrawn from the race for the United States Senate.

A Sermon on Truth.

Rev. T. E. Wagg, at Centenary church yesterday, preached the first of a series of sermons on "The Christian Armor." His discourse was on "Truth," a part of the armor, and was strong and helpful.

Mr. Clarence Poole, who is visiting his people here, occupied the pulpit at Centenary last night.

THE CAMPAIGN.

But Three Weeks Until the Election and Still No Excitement.

It is just three weeks until the National election, but if it were not for the Senatorial talk one hears, a person in Greensboro would hardly know that an important campaign is drawing to a close. Since the August election but few people have seemed to care to talk of political matters further than the election of a United States Senator. A heated discussion of this question may be heard wherever two or three Democrats of opposite opinions chance to meet.

From now on interest in the Presidential election may be expected to increase. Both parties will have a number of speakers out and some enthusiasm will be aroused. In this county Chairman Seales, of the Democratic Executive Committee, is making an active canvass with a view to rolling up a good majority for Bryan and Kitchin.

EARLY MORNING FIRE.

A Small Frame House on Mr. R. R. King's Premises in Flames.

An alarm about 8 o'clock this morning called the fire department to the residence of Mr. R. R. King, on McAdoo avenue, where a small frame house on the premises was in flames. The blaze was extinguished after one end of the house and a portion of the roof had fallen in.

The building was a two-room, single story structure and was used as a kind of plunder house. A servant slept in one room, and it was here the fire broke out. A portion of Mr. King's books, papers, etc., were stored in the other room. Some of them were badly damaged, principally by smoke and water.

CHEATHAM-FLEMING.

A Former Teacher in the Greensboro Female College to Marry.

The following invitation has been received by friends and relatives in the city:

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Fleming request the pleasure of your company at the marriage of their daughter, Ava Long, to Mr. Robert Howard Cheatham, on Tuesday morning, October twenty-third, at eleven o'clock, Methodist Episcopal Church, Ridgeway, North Carolina.

Miss Fleming has many friends in this city who will learn of her approaching marriage with interest. She was formerly a member of the faculty of Greensboro Female College, resigning her position at the end of last term.

Mr. Cheatham is the agent of the Seaboard Air Line at Ridgeway and is a cousin of Mrs. W. S. Weather-spoon, of this city.

Miss Murray at Home This Evening.

Miss Nettie Murray will entertain a party of friends at her home this evening in honor of her guest, Miss Kate Taylor, of Mt. Airy. The following invitation has been issued:

At Home.
Miss Nettie Murray,
323 Ashboro street,
Monday evening, October fifteenth,
to meet Miss Kate Taylor.
9 to 12.

Registration Books Will Open Tomorrow.

The registration books for the coming election will open tomorrow and close Saturday, giving just five days in which to register. It will not be necessary for persons whose names are on the books to register unless they have moved into another precinct since they last voted.

Going Fox Hunting.

A party consisting of Messrs. J. F. Jordan, S. E. Hudson, and R. W. and A. F. Brooks left this afternoon for Manchester to spend a few days fox hunting. All of these gentlemen are great lovers of the sport and will stir up some game if there is any in that section.

Death in the Country.

Mr. John Aiken died Saturday at his home a few miles east of Greensboro, having been sick only a week. He leaves a widow and several children. He was a brother of Mr. D. R. Aiken, of this city.

FEVER AT THE STATE NORMAL.

ANOTHER CASE HAS DEVELOPED.

A Student Has Typhoid, but it is Known That She Contracted it at Home—Was Sick When She Arrived and Has Never Registered—The Patrons of the Institution Have been Notified as to the Exact Situation—No Undue Alarm.

The announcement that there is another case of typhoid fever at the State Normal and Industrial College will be received with sincere regret by the public at large. However, it is known to a certainty that the fever was contracted before the patient left her home.

The young lady was ill when she arrived at the college and was sent at once to the infirmary, where she has since remained under the care of Dr. W. B. Beall and a competent nurse. No undue alarm is felt by the other students in the institution, as they fully understand the circumstances.

Desiring that the exact situation be thoroughly understood, President Melver Saturday night mailed the following letter, which explains the matter in detail, to each patron of the institution:

"To the Patrons of the State Normal and Industrial College:

"I regret to inform you that one of our students has typhoid fever. She arrived at the college with a severe headache late at night, and, the next day, was sent to the infirmary. She was not well enough to register on October 4th, the opening day of the college, and since October 5th has been under the constant care of Dr. W. P. Beall, who is at present the acting physician of the college.

"The mother of the young lady is here, and informs me that her daughter nursed a case of typhoid fever near her home a few weeks ago, and that there were thirteen cases of typhoid fever in that community.

"I mention these details because it is very important that the patrons of the college should be assured that this case of fever was contracted before the student left her home.

"So far as I can judge from my own observation and the advice of Dr. Beall, there is no reason why any patron should be alarmed, and I wish to assure you that, if another case develops, you will have prompt notification of the fact.

"Considering the large number of students assembled here from every section of the State, it is not remarkable that there should be a case of typhoid fever among them at the beginning of the college year; but, because of our recent experience, I desire to notify the patrons as to the exact condition of affairs in order that they may know of the presence of this case of fever, and also they may have an authoritative statement as to its origin.

"From the first this case has been isolated in the infirmary, a building some distance from any other of the college buildings.

"I will add that, since the opening of the college, the drinking water used by the students has been analyzed by the State bacteriologist and pronounced 'absolutely pure.'

"Very truly yours,
"CHARLES D. MCIVER, President.
"Greensboro, Oct. 13th.

Railroad Men Here.

President John D. Lenig and Vice-President Middleton, of the Durham and Charlotte Railway Company, spent a part of the day in the city. They were on their way from Philadelphia to Gulf on business connected with their road.

A Present from the Philippines.

Mr. M. S. Sherwood is in receipt of a unique present from Capt. E. L. Gilmer, who is in command of a portion of Uncle Sam's fighting force in the Philippines. The gift, which is highly prized by Mr. Sherwood, is an ink stand enclosed in a piece of native cork wood.

Mr. Joyce Begins His Canvass.

Mr. J. R. Joyce, the Republican candidate for Congress in this district, was here last night. He is just beginning his canvass of the district, making his second speech today in Caswell county.

While here last night Mr. Joyce met and conferred with Secretary Hyams, of the State Executive Committee.

GREENSBORO L. & T. BUILDING.

Mr. J. N. Longest Will Supervise the Building and the Work Will Begin Right Away.

The Greensboro Loan & Trust Company's building, to be erected just south of the McAdoo, would have been begun by now except for the illness of the President of the company, Capt. J. W. Fry. He has been sick two weeks, but is some better now.

Mr. J. N. Longest, the contractor, this morning met the building committee at Capt. Fry's residence and a trade was closed by which Mr. Longest will superintend the entire job of construction. The work will be let partly by sub contracts and partly done by the day, all by the company itself, under the supervision of Mr. Longest.

There will be four floors. The first will be a banking house, planned and completed after the most modern architectural ideas.

There will be a lobby, a private office for the President, one for the cashier, one for the directors, and a "banking office" and vaults. The teller's desk and those of the bookkeepers will be separate. The second, third, and fourth floors will be devoted to offices, each containing eleven, with toilet and baths on each floor.

The front of the building will be very handsome. Work will be commenced at once, and it is expected that nearly eight months will be required to complete it. The cost will be about $25,000.

BRIGANDS IN MEXICO

The Last Band is Giving Much Trouble and the Government is Determined to Break it Up.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Guadalajara, Mexico, Oct. 15.—A band of brigands under the leadership of the notorious Pedro Flores has been committing numerous murders and robberies in the Autlan district of the state for several months. Lately they made a bold raid on the town of Autlan and killed the postmaster, robbed the place, and terrorized the inhabitants. They have a stronghold in the mountains. A detachment of rural police has gone in pursuit. This is the only active band of brigands now in Mexico and the Federal authorities are determined to break it up.

United States Trying to Buy Islands.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Copenhagen, Oct. 15.—It is said on good authority that the legations are again negotiating for the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States. The United States is understood to have offered $4,000,000 for St. Thomas and the other islands. Denmark asks seven millions.

The Work of an Open Switch.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Chicago, October 15.—An open switch in South Chicago, believed to have been purposely misplaced, caused the death of two men, seriously injured three others, and wrecked the engine of the New York and Boston express on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern last night.

CAN A SETTLEMENT BE MADE?

COAL MINERS LAY DOWN TERMS

Say That the Ten Per Cent Increase Must Continue Till April, the Sliding Scale be Abolished and Other Differences Arbitrated—Operators Say Unofficially That the Terms Will Not be Accepted—Fable Favors a Settlement on Miners' Terms.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 15.—The sentiment of the public strongly favors the settlement of the strike on the basis of the proposed figures presented by the miners. What constitute a majority of the big operators are opposed and say unofficially that they will agree to any limit for the ten per cent increase to remain in force.

PROPOSITION ACCEPTED CONDITIONALLY.

Seranton, Pa., Oct. 13.—The anthracite coal miners now on strike, after a two days' convention, this afternoon decided to accept the 10 per cent net increase in wages offered by the mine owners, provided they will continue the payment of the advance until next April, and will abolish the sliding scale. They also decided to continue the strike until the operators agree to the conditions proposed. The resolution is as follows:

"We, your committee, respectfully submit the following preamble and resolutions for your consideration:

"Whereas, The anthracite coal operators have posted notices offering an advance of 10 per cent over wages formerly paid, and have signified their willingness to adjust other grievances with their own employees, and

"Whereas, They have failed to specify the length of time this advance would remain in force, and have also failed to abolish the sliding scale method of determining wages, we would recommend:

"That this convention accept an advance of 10 per cent, providing the operators will continue its payment until April 1st, 1901, and will abolish sliding scale of wages in the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions, the scale of wages in the two last named places to remain stationary at 10 per cent above the present basis price, and that the companies will agree to adjust other grievances complained of with committees of their own employees.

"Should this proposition be unacceptable to the operators, we recommend that the convention propose that all the questions at issues be submitted to a fair and impartial board of arbitration.

"We further recommend that under no circumstances whatever should there be a resumption of work at any of the collieries until the operators signify their acceptance of this proposition, and you are notified officially that the strike is ended and all return to work in a body the same day."

OPERATORS SAY THEY CAN'T SEE IT.

Shamokin, Oct. 15.—Not a colliery resumed operation in this portion of the coal region this morning, while the miners generally think the terms of the convention will be accepted by the operators. Operators here don't say they will unless forced to by the coal carrying companies to sign the agreement to pay the ten per cent increase.

JAPAN ACCEPTS THE PROPOSALS.

Germany the Only Power Which Has Not Replied to France's Note.

Paris, Oct. 15.—Germany is the only power which has not replied formally to France's note on China, though she has verbally accepted the terms. Japan's answer was received today. She accepts the proposals, retaining only one condition; that refers to the permanent prohibition of arms. While agreeing with the principal, Japan offers suggestions as to how prohibition can be best accomplished.

Dispatches received at the French war office from Hance says the Chinese court arrived at Singan-Fu on October 12th.

An Empress Suffering from Neuralgia.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Hamburg, October 15.—It was officially announced today that Empress Frederick has been suffering some time from neuralgia pains, causing exhaustion and acute weakness of the heart. There is no present danger, but a recurrence of the attack would be a cause of imminent danger.

Starts Out on the Street and Attempts to Cut Passing Ladies—September Weather Was More Than Four Degrees Above the Normal for the Past 28 Years—State Issues a History of its Soldiers in the Spanish-American War—State Board of Health Taking Samples of City Drinking Water.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Oct. 14. —Last night a young white man, barely 17, caused quite a sensation on the street by trying to cut several ladies with a large knife. He was arrested and put in the station house. Today it was found that he was a son of Dr. Budd, of Haywood, Chatham county, and that he had drank a lot of whiskey and then taken cocaine.

The crop and weather report for North Carolina for September, was issued yesterday. It says the mean temperature was over 6 degrees above normal daily up to the 15th, and during the last few days were 10 degrees above normal. The percentage of sunshine was remarkably high. The monthly mean temperature for the State was 74.9, which was 4.5 degrees above the normal for the past 28 years. The highest was 78.8, at Southport; the lowest 63 at Linville. The highest absolute temperature was 101 at Littleton and Southern Pines; the lowest 38 at Linville. The mean temperature was the highest on record for September. The rainfall was only 2.45 inches, or 1.90 below the normal.

A charter is granted to the High Point Metallic Lead Company, capital $10,000.

The interest in the State fair, Oct. 22-27, is the greatest ever known. The number of entries is the largest on record. The midway attractions are to be most numerous. The grounds will be open two nights, and lighted by electricity. This is an entirely new departure. There will be balloon ascensions day and night.

The Methodist orphanage here will be opened November 12. By that time the contract will be awarded for the construction of another building.

The roster of the North Carolina volunteers in the Spanish American war is out. The State issues it. It gives the history of the three regiments this State furnished, made up from the rolls and with a sketch of each regiment. The officers and men mustered out, those honorably and dishonorably discharged, died, deserted, etc. In the third regiment, colored, one man is reported as killed for resisting an officer at Macon, Ga. This was Zeb Patton, of Asheville.

This week Colonel Shaffer, of the State board of health, will complete the work of taking samples of drinking water from the cities and towns which have water supply. He says he has nowhere found better water than that at Monroe. It comes from a 750 feet artesian well.

Tomorrow J. C. L. Harris will go to Washington to arrange for getting the last $10,000 of war claims paid by the government. Those are claims on account of volunteers in 1898. The State did not really pay a cent on account of the war; it simply "fathered" the claims so as to get them regularly before the War Department.

Next Thursday the Corporation Commission will give a special hearing as to freight rates.

The call for the formation of a State fruit shippers' association by Prof. Gerald McCarthy, is so hearty that success is assured. The association will meet in the auditorium of the agricultural building Oct. 25th, at 5 p. m., and will be attended by leading fruit growers.

Address at the Colored Methodist Church Tonight.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

Please announce that the Rev. Dr. Oldham, assistant secretary of the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, will address the people of Greensboro, at St. Matthews M. E. church, corner Ashe and Lee streets, tonight, and oblige. Respectfully, S. A. FEELER.

Big Registration in Gotham.

New York, Oct. 13—Full figures show enormous registration in Greater New York. Yesterday, the first day's figures, being 257,617, which is largely ahead of all records.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been too low and are just now getting reasonable. FATHER OF THE HOUSE.

Congressman Harmer, of Pennsylvania, Holds This Honor and All That Goes with It.

To the member of the house of representatives who has had the longest continuous service belongs the honor of administering the oath of office to the speaker-elect. He is the "father of the house," and before the drawing for the seats begins he is accorded the right of selecting any place that suits him. Representative Alfred C. Harmer, of Philadelphia, is the dean of the coming session. He was elected in 1871 to the

ALFRED C. HARMER.
(Pennsylvania Congressman Known as the Father of the House.)

Forty-second congress, and has been in continuous service since, with the exception of 1875 and 1877, when his seat in the Forty-fourth congress was held by John Robbins. Mr. Harmer was re-elected to the Forty-fifth congress, and has been a member of the house continuously for 24 years.

The next member in seniority of service is Gen. Bingham, who is also from Philadelphia. He has served since the Forty-sixth congress met on March 4, 1879. There are other members of the house whose entry there antedates his, but no one has served so long without a break.

Pennsylvania seems to cling to a monopoly of this congressional distinction. The famous "Pig Iron" Kelley and Charles O'Neill were Mr. Harmer's immediate predecessors, so that the state can claim the honor of supplying the member longest in continuous service since March 4, 1875. Prior to that date Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, was the "father of the house."

MINISTER HAS A QUEER CAT.

A New York Pet That Can Tell an "at Home" Day and Knows His Mail.

Not the least important dweller in the home of the pastor of a popular and fashionable uptown New York church is a maltese cat, beautifully marked and of rare breed, which shall be called Jim. That is not the real name of this household pet, who would probably scorn so common a one as Jim, but there are reasons why he should not be too closely identified. Jim is no common cat. He knows his friends among the callers at the home of the minister, and those to whom he does not take a fancy are pretty apt to find it out. He knows the "at home" day as well as any member of the family, and on that day takes a prominent place on the divan, ready to receive the attentions of those of the callers whom he numbers among his friends and purr his satisfaction when they fondle him, says a New York paper.

This minister had occasion to move his residence a short time ago, and of course Jim moved with the family. He did not seem to like the new place. He went from room to room, looked carefully at the wall papers, seemed to sniff at them as though they did not meet his approval, and then he disappeared. An hour later he appeared again, somewhat battered and bruised, took another look at the wall decorations and seemed to decide that, unsatisfactory though they were, it was better to endure them than the perils to be encountered abroad.

Next door to the old home of the minister lived a woman who was very fond of Jim and who regretted the circumstances that brought about a change of residence. She wrote a letter the other day and addressed it to "Jim." This letter was placed by a maid on a hatrack in the hall, along with the other letters delivered at the same time. Jim seemed to know this letter was intended for him, because when a member of the family came downstairs that morning he was found trying to tear open the envelope. Strangely enough, he had never taken such a liberty with a letter before that time and has not disturbed any letter since.

Although Jim has lived all his life in the home of a minister, he does not always show that humility which would naturally be expected. He likes to make visits, but no other cat is allowed on his premises. Next door to Jim's home is a house he loves to visit. He will roam all through it and play with the cat which comes there, but the other day when the neighbor's cat came, as if to return a call, Jim met him at the door, hit him on the side of the head with a paw and marched proudly up the stairs, as though he had done something worthy the pet of a minister's household.

HON. MARTIN MAGINNIS.

Appointed Senator from Montana to Fill the Vacancy Left by W. A. Clark's Resignation.

Martin Maginnis, who has just been appointed United States senator from Montana to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of W. A. Clark, is well known in Washington, where he served six terms as representative from Montana when that state was a territory. Mr. Maginnis is a journalist of note and a prominent citizen of Helena, Mont., where he has lived ever since the close of the civil war. While he was yet a child he went to Minnesota with his parents from his native state of New York. He was so impatient to become an editor that he abandoned his studies in Hamlin college to take charge of a newspaper, but left his editorial chair in turn to enlist in the volunteer infantry in 1861. He proved himself a gallant soldier, for he was from the rank of private to that of major in three years. He fought in all the battles of the army of the Potomac, from which he was transferred in 1865 to the army of the Cumberland. He is very popular in Montana, and has large mining interests in that state.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1900.

COL. WATTESON AND THE SERPENT.

We have not, we believe, mentioned the fact in some time that rattling Col. Henry Watteason, of the Louisville Courier Journal, who supported Palmer and Buckner in 1896, is among those who have found it possible to remount the procession by means of the tail and crupper of imperialism and militarism. This issue appears to please the Colonel immensely and he spurs right up along side the lead horse. Hear.

"We are an expansionist. But we would expand on Jeffersonian, not on Caesaristic lines. We are an expansionist. But we would have the Constitution to follow the flag. We are an expansionist. We rejoice in the knowledge that at last the scattered and discordant Confederacy, the uncertain and for a time dismembered Union, the belittled and despised republic, is a world power, known, honored, respected of all men. We would have its word go forth to the nations a trumpet blast. But not of mere militarism. Not carrying a message of desolation and war. Not echoing the bellicose tyranny of England, nor the bloodthirsty vengeance of Germany, merely a poor second in the jarring concert of feudalism and vandalism. But we would have the word go forth as Washington spoke it, as Jefferson signed it, and as Lincoln sealed it with his blood. Even as Moses lifted up the Serpent in the Wilderness would we lift up the spirit of liberty, saying to mankind 'here are life and hope and room for all.'"

In this article the Colonel sets his words in quite fine array. They strike well for sound, and knowing so well the often popular value of sound as against sense, perhaps the Colonel meant them that way. One of the evidences of this is the now current way of mixing the name of Lincoln, the arch-imperialist, with that of Jefferson, the expounder of the ultra-decentralized idea of government. If it were not apparent that the Colonel was talking for the benefit of the door-keeper one might be inclined to ask him some questions. A LA new style of campaigning. One might ask, for instance, how the serpent is to be lifted up in the wilderness if we are not allowed to budge outside our own well swept front yard, much less to go into the wilderness to carry it. And if we are going to lift it up at home and invite the oppressed to come over, how are they going to get over and what will we do with them after they do come? And lastly, how are we going to expand without expanding, anyhow?—but, the Colonel is fully re-initiated.

ONLY HOPEFUL.

There is no doubt of the fact that we are "fast approaching an untimely end," and the day of thwarting the will of the imperialists is upon us. If The Telegram thinks Mr. McKinley's chances are better than Mr. Bryan's, will The Telegram not help to make Mr. Bryan's chances doubly sure instead of reasoning on the imperialistic side?—Durham Sun.

The Telegram some days ago expressed the hope that its contemporary, the Sun, was unduly alarmed over the severe end that awaits us all in case McKinley is re-elected. Our intention was merely to express a modicum of hope that the country might continue to live in spite of all that Mr. McKinley could do. Begging the Sun's pardon, we remark that neither what it nor The Telegram says will have any effect on the result of this election. North Carolina is as sure for Bryan as if the vote were already counted, and the influence of our expression will scarcely turn the tide in any doubtful State. So we reason that it is hardly worth while to take up our space with such direful predictions of what terrible things are going to engulf us all if our man is not elected. Somehow, without being much of an imperialist, we prefer to look on the cheerful side and hope that the country may continue to live. We prefer to chase the rainbow hue of hope as long as possible. As for reasoning on the "imperialistic side," if saying that the Philippines should be disposed of to their best interest whether it keeps the United States there or brings our forces home, constitutes that charge, then we plead guilty, for we have been talking that way since the day the telegraph brought the news of Dewey's May day exploit.

We note that a number of the papers are vigorously agitating the matter of establishing a State reformatory for youthful criminals. Our excellent religious contemporary, The Christian Sun, says:

North Carolina, as well as many others of the Southern states, should have a State reformatory for youthful criminals. Our present system of taking the youthful offender of the law and putting him in prison side by side with the hardened criminal is but a schooling in crime, and a sin against the youth who has transgressed.

There are two methods of punishment, the reformatory and the punitive. The first method looks to the punishment of the crime and the reformation of the criminal, while the latter looks to the punishment of the crime and the degradation of the criminal. It is not difficult to decide as to which method should be pursued by a civilized, much more by a Christian State.

We hope that our contemporaries will keep this up. It is very certain that it is one of the things that our State should have. The Sun is right as to the method of punishment that should be pursued towards youthful criminals.

"Beautiful Thoughts from Robert and Elizabeth Browning," is the title of a pretty little volume of poems, arranged by Mrs. Margaret Shipp, of North Carolina, and published by Messrs. James Potts & Co., 119-121 West Twenty-Third street, New York. The dedication is to "William Ewen Shipp, killed while leading a charge on San Juan, Hill July 1st, 1898." The "thoughts" are arranged for daily reading and comprise some of the best extracts from the works of the Brownings. Following the dedication is a most appropriate selection from "The Ring and the Book."

O lover of my life, O soldier-saint, No work begun shall ever pause for death!

Love will be helpful to me more and more

I the coming course, the new path, I must tread,

My weak hand in thy strong hand, strong for that!

Tell him that if I seem without him now

That's the world's insight! Oh, he understands!"

The book is sold by the publishers at 75 cents and should find a ready sale.

Chairman Jones Saturday gave out a statement in reply to Gov. Roosevelt's reference to his alleged connection with a trust. He says that it is false that the American Cotton Bale Company is a trust.

A NEW COUNT OF VOTES.

The People's Party National Committee Says Bryan Will be Elected and Shows That He Has 153 Votes Certain, 84 More Probable, and 128 Doubtful.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 13.—The following statement over the signature of J. A. Edgerton, the secretary, was given out tonight by the People's party national committee:

"Bryan will be elected; he has lost none of the support he had in 1896, except a few silver Republicans in the mountain states, and of these there will not be enough to affect a single electoral vote. He will hold his own west of the Mississippi, and will carry every State in that region that he carried in 1896, with the possible exception of Wyoming. He will gain heavily in the central west and east; he will not only have all the Democrats and Populists who supported him in 1896, but added to these he will receive the votes of a large number of gold Democrats and former Republicans who have left their party on the issues of imperialism and trusts."

The following States may be classed as certain to cast their electoral votes for Bryan: Alabama, 11; Arkansas, 8; Colorado, 4; Florida, 4; Georgia, 12; Idaho, 3; Louisiana, 8; Mississippi, 9; Missouri, 17; Montana, 3; Nebraska, 8; Nevada, 3; North Carolina, 11; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 15; Utah, 3; Virginia, 12—Total, 153.

Add to these the following States that will probably cast their vote for Bryan:

Illinois, 24; Indiana, 15; Kansas, 10; Kentucky, 13; Maryland, 8; South Dakota, 4; Washington, 4; West Virginia, 6—Total, 84. These, added to 153 certain give 237, or 13 more than a majority in the electoral college.

Outside of these certain and probable States are the following doubtful; California, 9; Connecticut, 6; Delaware, 3; Michigan, 14; Minnesota, 9; New Jersey, 10; New York, 36; North Dakota, 3; Ohio, 23; Wisconsin, 12; Wyoming, 3—Total, 128.

THE SENATORIAL RACE.

Mr. Simmons is blamed because he did not come as near turning Populist as some of the rest of 'em—Durham Herald.

And it may be added further that at this particular juncture Mr. Simmons' services are needed in the Senate. When the enemies of the State and white man's rule are determined upon making a bitter fight against our Constitutional Amendment and putting us back into a condition worse than the first (to which the people of North Carolina have sworn never again to submit) the man of all others who is best qualified to stand in the Senate as the champion and defender of his people is the bold, courageous, resourceful, well equipped, State Chairman, Hon. F. M. Simmons.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

An enthusiastic Julian S. Carr club was formed here tonight; the notice having been given this afternoon. One hundred and ten members were enrolled. Resolutions deprecating attacks on any candidate for Senator were passed, the sentiment of the club being to press General Carr's claims without disparaging other candidates. The club will steadily grow.—Wilson Correspondence of the Wilmington Messenger.

Mr. Simmons might not have been enthusiastic for free silver in 1894, but neither was his party. Whatever may be said of Mr. Simmons, he is too good a politician to be found at variance with the particular wing of his party that happens to be on top.—Durham Herald.

There seems to be some members of the Democratic party, whether they are members of the organization does not clearly appear, who manifest extreme sensitiveness whenever any of the friends of the three Senatorial candidates declare that their candidate has no machine working in his interest. * * * What true friends of Democracy should be sensitive about is the suspicion that the party organization could stoop so low as to favor either candidate at the expense of the others.—Morganton Herald.

It is easy enough to criticize objectionable conduct in others, we are well aware, while hard to restrain ourselves from like sin. The esteemed editor of the Wilkesboro Chronicle lately pointed out to us in most kindly spirit how we ourselves in advocating so strenuously the election of General Carr might fall under a just criticism inasmuch as we had been chosen the Bryan elector for this district. Perhaps he was right and it is hardly a good excuse to say that State officers newly elected by all the people are doing for Mr. Simmons far more than we can hope to do for General Carr and that other editors who are likewise electors are active on that of Simmons' side.—Morganton Herald.

"There is nothing in life quite so obscure," says the Chronic Bachelor, "as the husband of a successful woman."

IMPORTANT!

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 26th, 1900.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On and after October 15th, 1900, we, the undersigned, will do a strictly cash business. Our reasons are as follows:

1st. Absolute NECESSITY.
2nd. Laundry, the world over, is a recognized cash business and justly so.
3rd. Our accounts are necessarily small, and it causes an endless amount of confusion and expense to collect, besides losses each year in bad bills.

4th. All of our current expenses, such as labor, fuel, gas and supplies are cash, hence the stand we take is forced upon us. While we very much regret, in most cases, to exact the spot-cash, yet we must treat all alike, and we see no other way out of the difficulty. We trust our customers will lend us their aid by stating when to return laundry and by being prepared to pay for same when delivered. Our drivers will have positive instructions to return to the laundry all packages not paid for.

We have on sale at office (for cash) coupon books from $1 to $5 which can be left at convenient place at home, so that on delivery of bundle the amount of laundry bill can be turned out by the driver.

VERY RESPECTFULLY,

MONDAY

"Opportunity" and advantage will meet you at our doors and introduce you to the field of glittering bargains which await you here at Satisfaction's citadel. Revelation of beauty. It is really an education on what to wear to go through our store. Hundreds of ladies thronged our store this week, and all were charmed with the goods and prices. They left feeling thankful they had taken advantage of our offerings.

Great Store Where Women Meet--To Buy

Every day something new pops up in each department, and about as quickly disappears. So, if something choice—a little different—if wanted, be sure and come Monday then, and see the new dress goods—beautiful plaids for fall dresses are here representing every known weave in the dress goods world. We are very anxious to get you acquainted with our new goods. Of course we don't expect you to gratify your wishes just because we want you to do so. We know that our business affairs are of no particular interest to you unless you can do better here than elsewhere. That is why we want to urge upon you the fact that we are "DIRECT FACTORY REPRESENTATIVES" and can save you money on every thing you buy. Monday is a big day with us and it is important that you so arrange your household affairs as to be among the first that crowd around our bargain counters. THE TWO SKIPPERS

Remarkable Rivalry of Capt. Davis and Capt. Davies of the Nellie B.

SOME few, some very few indeed, of the not numerous American lines of sea transportation have a system of retirement after long service, with the enjoyment of a life pension representing a fair share of the active wages last paid the retired mariner. This is far better than Sailors' Snug Harbor, for it does not interfere in the least with the ambition which every sailor thinks out in the mid watch, namely, to retire to a farm and raise things.

Theoretically this is all very fine; it is supposed to act as an incentive to faithful service over a long series of years, and to attach a man to his line, and, above all, to his own ship. That is just where the trouble comes in; the retired sailor gets so thoroughly attached to his own ship that he does not know enough to let go all holds and give his worthy successor a fair show. That is bound to be the case with the retired first mate. Just as soon as he goes on the retired list he schemes to get a passage on the first voyage of the old ship, in order that he may give the benefit of his advice to his successor, either his old second mate promoted up, or else some chief officer from some smaller ship of the line, who thereby gets an increase in pay. This is such an unfailing source of trouble aboard that the agents positively refuse to sell a retired mate passage on his old ship. This leads to a conflict of scheming intelligences, and sometimes the wily mate succeeds in getting into the cabin on that first pleasure voyage. Not, however, if he sticks to the simple-minded sailor's subterfuge of writing for passage for John Johnson, for no person can have much to do with the sea and its affairs without discovering the wear and tear that falls to that alias.

If by hook or crook the retired first mate can get off on that first voyage after his retirement, the prospects are bright that there will be a lively ship. He turns out in the morning, no matter what the weather, and he is promptly on hand to get his cup of coffee at the galley door before the hands turn to. The men for a time forget the change, and obey the old mate through sheer force of long habit, until at last some one happens to remember that mere passengers are not allowed to have belaying pins, and then the crew is apt to become cheeky.

Nor is the new chief officer disposed to take the interference in good part. His pensioned predecessor is only too glad to nose around and find a speck of dirt under the long boat or to discover a smudge of unwiped rotten stone on the brass work. He is sure to report it to the new mate and get a sharp retort for his officiousness. Then arise words which might be actionable ashore, and which even jar the stout sea air. The active mate is apt to suggest that passengers on deck are expected to have no views higher than ring toss and shuttleboard. And the mate emeritus is sure to retort that even passengers have a right to expect decks to be clean and not such a filthy mess. It is easy to see why retired mates should be prevented from taking pleasure trips on their old vessels.

Even if they are stopped from voyaging there is no way of keeping them off the dock. They know to a dot when the old boat is due in port again, and not cabbages nor turnips, nor yet the whole farm, can keep them away at that time. The station of a mate is at the bow when the ship is coming to her berth, and he cannot avoid the sight of his predecessor on the pier head, watching the mistakes he makes, and commenting thereon with great distinctness and corresponding vigor of expression. That is the one great joy of the retired mariner's life. It fills his soul with glee to watch his successor doing the things he himself did for so many years, and to feel the glow of satisfaction when he assures himself that the new man does not begin to come up to him in all-around efficiency.

But in all the annals of retired mariners there was never such a case as that of the two skippers of the Nellie B., a snug bit of a bark that sails out of this port. Her only master for a number of years was Cap'n Davies, who owned one sixty-fourth in her. Cap'n Davis, the same name except one letter, and leading to perpetual mistakes, was the master of another bark belonging to the same owners. This bark was burned at sea, and Cap'n Davis bought one sixty-fourth in Cap'n Davies' bark, the Nellie B. Neither had what is really a master's interest, and both set to work to buy an additional piece to make it up to one thirty-second. The two succeeded just about the same time, and each insisted on his right to be the master. It was evenly divided, and the managing owner said that he could make no division. On the quiet he sold piecemeal to Cap'n Davies to protect his position as master, and piecemeal to Cap'n Davis to help him get to be master; this was a good thing for the managing owner, for the Nellie B. had not been paying for a long time, and he had been thinking of having her cut down for a coal barge. Finally Cap'n Davies and Cap'n Davis had bought as much of the bark as they could, and they went in a body, the two of them, to the managing owner to get him to appoint one or the other master. Then the managing owner told them he did not have anything to do with it, since he did not own anything in the bark.

When they came to compare notes they had spent a lot of money, and were no better off than before; in fact, the advantage was entirely with the managing owner, who had got a good price for a property that it did not pay to run. Cap'n Davis had fifteen thirty-seconds, Cap'n Davies had fifteen thirty-seconds also, and the remaining two thirty-seconds was owned by the ship's husband, a South street ship chandler. He played fair with both skippers. He would sell half to each if they wanted to buy him out very badly, but he would not sell all to one, and thus be a party to giving him control over the other captain's investment. He suggested that they take the Nellie B. turn and turn about, and that's how it was that the bark had two skippers.

The way they fixed it up was that when Cap'n Davies brought the Nellie B. in from a voyage and had her discharged down to a clean floor, he should turn her over to Cap'n Davis to charter and load and sail until he got her down to a clean floor at the end of the voyage. When Cap'n Davis had her in charge Cap'n Davies was not to go aboard, but he could come down to the pier and find all the fault he wanted—and that was a whole lot—and vice versa. It was a caution to see how each of these old skippers put the bark into apple-pie order before they came into harbor from a voyage. The paint and cordage bills, to say nothing of white duck, must have been something big, but the ship's husband, who was in that line of business, never let on as between the two captains, so he must have been making a good thing out of his small interest in the Nellie B. The two old gentlemen were great rivals, and it was no and tuck between them on every point connected with the bark, and it would be hard to say which was the more jealous of the other.

It got so they never would speak except when handing the bark over, and then they were freezingly polite. "Good-morning, Cap'n Davis," was always the form that Cap'n Davies followed, "the Nellie B. is on a clean floor, and I think you'll not find anything the matter with her."

"Thank you, Cap'n Davies," was the unfailing response. "I suppose it seems so to you, but I have brought a broom with me; she'll not be the worse for a good sweeping. I suppose you'll enjoy the rest while I'm gone."

"Well, I wish you a prosperous landing and a quick voyage. You're getting old, man, and this will likely be the last voyage you'll make in the Nellie B., so make the most of it."

Then they'd part, speechless with rage. Not content with sitting on the pierhead day after day watching the loading of the bark and finding fault with everything the other skipper did, Cap'n Davies thought he'd take a look at the bark in some foreign port; he wanted to see whether Cap'n Davis saved up all his repairs for the home port, or whether he fixed the Nellie B. up creditable when she went foreign. The bark had been chartered for Melbourne with clothespins and woodenware. That's a voyage that took her all of a hundred days, for she was a dull sailor, and Cap'n Davies had plenty of time to get out to Melbourne by steamer. There he waited for the bark to be signaled from the Heads, and when her number was made he took a sailboat and hurried down Port Phillip to see how the Nellie B. was looking when she came into port foreign.

Whether the bark looked better than Cap'n Davies expected to find her, or whether she looked worse, nobody could say for certain. But that something serious was the matter anybody could see, for the old skipper hardly woke up to rip and tear more than once or twice a day, and that was nothing for him. The Nellie B. got a charter for London with wool, and lost no time discharging. Cap'n Davies hung about her all the time she was in Port Phillip. Soon after she sailed he just up and died. There wasn't much satisfaction in it for Cap'n Davis, for he died, too, before he got around Cape Horn, and he never knew that he was sole captain at last.

Another scheme of the two skippers went astray. Each of them, having neither chick nor child, had willed his share in the bark to the ship's husband, thus giving him the controlling interest on the condition that he would oust the rival skipper and put in a man of his own. But as both died at the same time there was nobody to oust, and the property came into the hands of this ship chandler. He's sailing her still, as she cost him really less than nothing, for what he had paid in the beginning for his small piece was repaid over and over in his dealings with the rivalry of the two skippers.—Boston Budget

POLE WITH A HISTORY.

Strange Indian Relic Which Has Stood at Morris, Ill., for Over
Two Hundred Years.

At Morris, Ill., on the west side of Wauponsee street, between Washington and Canal, stands a pole about 30 feet high, which is known as the "Indian pole." It is protected at the base by a close-fitting piece of flagging, which is surmounted by an iron fence, these having been placed there years ago by the city. There is nothing really known about the old landmark excepting that it was where it now stands.

ANCIENT INDIAN POLE.
(Located on Wauponsee Street at Morris, Grundy County, Ill.)

when the first settlers came to the community, and, furthermore, Shabbona, the old Indian chief, could tell nothing about the pole, as it had been there as long as he could remember.

An old Indian named Clark told the following story concerning this monument; Nacquet, a celebrated chief, was killed in battle at the spot, buried there and the cedar pole erected to his memory. His squaw died later and her body was placed beside his. Clark said the fight began at Blue Island, the tribe retreated and met their foe at the site of Oakwood cemetery, Joliet, and again had a hard-fought battle at Nettle creek, Morris, and the last was at Starved rock, where most of those who took refuge perished. One writer says: "The death of Nacquet was probably between 1680 and 1700, and the pole may have been placed there at that time."

In speaking of this old monument P. A. Armstrong, historian of the Black Hawk war, and "The Friend of Old Shabbona," said to a Chicago Chronicle correspondent: "There is no doubt in my mind that the pole is nearly 250 years old. When La Salle and Joliet went up the river where Morris now stands was an Indian village containing about 2,000 inhabitants, and when Shabbona came here, which was about the year 1800, the pole was there and none of the Indians knew when it was placed there. The story given by Clark to the effect that the chief, Nacquet, was buried there is generally believed, for when the canal was being built some of the workmen made some excavations at the base of the pole and unearthed the skeleton of a man and a woman, the things buried with the man signifying that he had been a great and brave chief. For fear of an uprising of the Indians the bodies were not removed and the affair was kept from them. When I came here there were hieroglyphics all over the pole, but they are not distinct now, as a fire which destroyed a building standing within a few feet of the landmark partly burned the pole on the sides."

Cost of Wives in Africa.
Wives in Tanganyika are considered a luxury, and even in Zululand they cost from $150 to $800, but on the Tanganyika Plateau one can be had for five or six goats. One goat equals 15 to 20 cents, therefore one wife equals $1.20.

BABY PULL-BACKS

It is strange that babies get on so well as they do; there are so many pull-backs! But Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is a wonderful help.

Begin with a little. Too much will upset the stomach. Increase, but keep under the limit. The limit is upsetting the stomach.

It rests a tired digestion; it does not tax the stomach at all; it lets it play—little stomachs like to play.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

Express Manager and $2,000 Missing.

North Port, L. I., Oct. 13.—Thomas Roberts, manager of the branch office of the American Express Company, has disappeared. An adjuster today completed the examination of his accounts and found a shortage of $2,000.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought that she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying that it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, head and lung diseases. Only 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A dispatch says that thirteen new cases of yellow fever are reported since the first of October.

COLD STEEL OR DEATH.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure stomach and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Hoax—"He's making rapid strides in his profession." Joax—"What is his profession?" Hoax—"He takes part in six-days walking matches."

Almost any woman can talk her husband into buying her a $25 hat, and yet some idiot once started the rumor that talk is cheap.

A FRIGHTFUL BLUNDER.

Will often cause a horrible burn, scald, cut or bruise. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, it kills the pain and promptly heals it. Cures old sores, fever sores, ulcers, boils, felons, corns, all skin eruptions. Best pile cure on earth. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by C. E. Holton.

The Bank Robber Caught.

Summit, N. J. Oct. 13.—The chief of police has received word from New Providence, three miles distant, that Schreiber, the Elizabeth Park bank thief, has been run down by Detective Kelly, who is keeping him prisoner under cover, in order to get a clear title to the reward of five thousand dollars offered by the bank. Schreiber, it is said, has been hiding there four days.

A MONSTER DEVIL FISH.

Destroying its victim, is a type of constipation. The power of this murderous malady is felt on organs and nerves and muscles and brain. There is no health till it's overcome. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a safe and certain cure. Best in the world for stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Only 25 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A New York Failure.

New York, Oct. 13.—Wall Street was startled this morning by the failure of Oldstead and Taylor, bankers and brokers, 52 Broadway. The assignment was announced on exchange immediately after the opening. The firm dealt in stocks and bonds and other securities. There are no details, but it is believed that the failure is a large one.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

PRACTICAL DOVE COTE.

Any Boy Can Make One Like That Here Described.

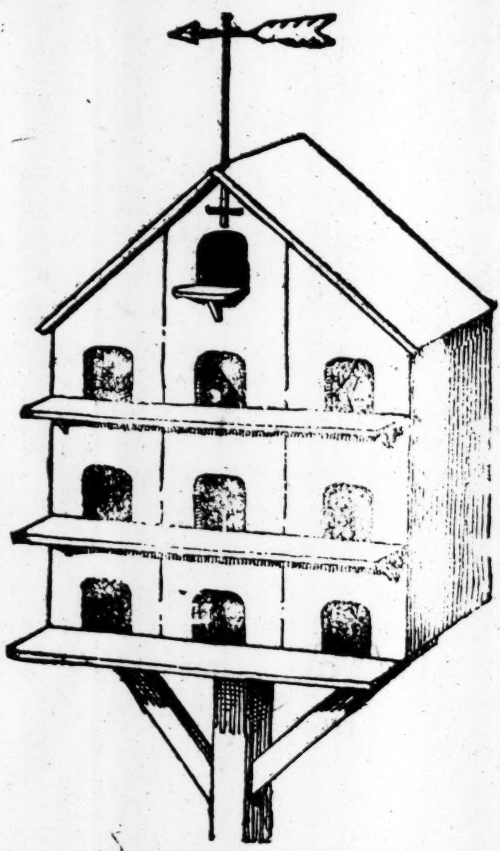

There are many boys who have pigeons, but every boy who owns them may not have a good cote. Mere boxes with holes in them answer practical purposes very well, but they are not nearly so nice in appearance as the house-shaped cote with pitched roof and landings under the windows.

The illustration shows one that can readily be made by anyone who can drive a nail and push a handsaw.

Obtain from a grocery store two large soap boxes, and carefully break them up, taking care not to split any of the boards. Make a front and back for the cote of corresponding size, about 24 inches wide, 20 inches high at the sides, and 30 inches high in the center to top of peak. It will take three or four boards for each of these; to hold them together, nail strips, or battens, across the inside. Then make a bottom board and the two sides; the latter should be 20 inches high and 12 inches wide.

Next, with a key-hole saw, cut the holes in the front for the pigeons to go in and out, and then fasten the sides and back to the bottom. Arrange three shelves, one on the line formed by the bottom of each tier of holes; fasten on the front, and lastly the roof.

Each floor can be divided into three compartments if desired; but they must not be too small, else they will be useless. Cut five small angular brackets to support the shelf outside each line of holes. To support the bottom shelf nail strips to the under side and carry them on under the cote where they may be nailed fast to the bottom.

From a smooth shingle or other thin piece of wood, cut an arrow for a weather vane, and make it fast to the top of a small stick with a very thin steel-wire nail. This stick is to be fastened to the front of the cote at the peak in an upright position, as shown in the drawing. Balance the arrow nicely, and take care when boring the hole through which to pass the nail that you do not split the arrow shaft.

This cote may be painted any desirable color to correspond with that of the house or out buildings, and two good coats should be used.

When finished the cote can be mounted on a post or fastened on the side of a barn, and the effect will be found quite ornamental.

SECURES F&T OFFICE.

Henry Casson, of Wisconsin, Elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives.

Henry Casson, who has just been elected sergeant-at-arms of the national house of representatives, was formerly secretary of state of Wisconsin, and has for years played quite an important part in Badger state politics. When President McKinley was inaugurated Mr. Casson aspired to succeed Claude M. Johnson, of Kentucky, as chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, and still later was a candidate for director of the twelfth census. To placate him, temporarily at least, he was appointed post office inspector of rural free delivery, but not until now has his ambition been satisfied.

Mr. Casson has seen a good bit of public life. He was private secretary of Govs. Hoard and Rusk. When Mr. Rusk became secretary of agriculture Mr. Casson went with him to Washington as his private secretary. In 1892 he was made chief clerk of the department of agriculture, and in 1893 became private secretary to Congressman Babcock. In 1894 he went into the office of secretary of state of Wisconsin on the republican tidal wave, and was reelected. He is regarded as a political power in Wisconsin.

Responsibility of Riches.

No sovereign is so rich as the czar, and no sovereign has such heavy calls upon his purse. The grand dukes Michael, Vladimir, Alexis, Serge and Paul Alexandrovitch, as the sons of emperors of Russia, receive from the head of the house an annual sum of 185,000 roubles (£26,200) each, which, added to private means, makes them very rich. The wives and widows of Russian grand dukes receive 40,000 roubles each; their sons 150,000 roubles. It was the Czar Alexander III. who decreed that every member of the imperial family must spend a part of the year in Russia, or else lose a third of his or her allowance.

New Material in Paper-Making.

It has been demonstrated that paper can be manufactured in the south at a handsome profit—the mill at Pensacola, Fla., which has been in successful operation for some months, proves the fact beyond question. This mill is using pitch pine for pulp-making. Recent experiments have shown the availability of wild cane, which grows in vast quantities throughout the southern states, for this purpose.—Chicago Chronicle.

Recently a train carried 59 carloads of oranges from California east. There were in all 21,712 boxes.
